Fresh from the Farm

Dear Friend,

Love cannot remain by itself—it has no meaning. Love has to be put into action, and that action is service. Whatever form we are, able or disabled, rich or poor, it is not how much we do, but how much love we put in the doing; a lifelong sharing of love with others.

—Mother Teresa of Calcutta

The Koinonia community is small. You'll see us in this catalog, photographed while doing the work that brings you your favorite Koinonia products. Since the 1950s, our mail order business has been our main source of income. But we do much more. We care for the farm. We welcome thousands of visitors each year. We conduct programs for youth and elders. We offer educational programs for all ages. We operate the Heart to Heart home-repair ministry. And we do our best to respond to needs and challenges of our times.

As this catalog goes to print, the nation's attention is focused on the Gulf Coast—on Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. Hurricanes Katrina and Rita have created an immense need and an enormous challenge. In the face of such disaster, what can a small intentional Christian community of some twenty people do? We do what we can, step by step, little by little.

We are listed with Church World Service, Catholic Charities and www.HurricaneHousing.org as a place willing to house evacuees. The Sumter Area Ministerial Association has us at the ready to serve meals, if needed, to 60+ evacuee families housed in local hotels. At the suggestion of the Ministerial Association, the local Red Cross and the Salvation Army, we launched a food and clothing drive. We talked with a troop of Cub Scouts who wanted to know more about how to serve others and then watched them enthusiastically raise more than $2,000 for the hurricane relief efforts in one afternoon. Our more musically talented community members have agreed to perform at a benefit sponsored by the Ministerial Association. All proceeds will go to evacuee families. We partnered with Habitat for Humanity International to help the Hall family, an extended family from Gulfport, Mississippi; this family of 12 adults and 10 children lost their homes and all their possessions to Katrina. Habitat took a six-bedroom house off the market for the Halls, and Koinonia helped with the move. Community members drove around town picking up donated furniture, bedding, dishes, pots & pans, and all sorts of items needed to make a home. As we moved these items into the house, we were given the chance to make new friends. We saw worried, tired expressions give way to smiles.

When you order from this catalog, you are doing far more than purchasing farm-grown pecans, mouth-watering chocolate, thought-provoking books, award-winning DVDs and fairly-traded coffee. You are partnering with us to help make all the above efforts possible. Sales from the catalog sustain our community so we can continue to serve. We are grateful for your partnership.

Know that Koinonia will go on responding to needs and challenges of the time doing what we can the best we can.

Bren Dubay

Bren Dubay has been director at Koinonia since May 1, 2004. She and others are available to speak to groups or to help you give a presentation about Koinonia. You can reach her via e-mail at dubay@koinoniapartners.org, by mail at 1324 GA Hwy 49 S, Americus, GA 31719, or by phone at (229) 924-0391 or (877) 738-1741.

We also sell our products in our newly renovated Welcome Center. Here, Kathleen Monts and Fairy Caroland keep the shelves well-stocked and attractively arranged.

The work of Koinonia could not be done without the many wonderful people who visit us. They share their time in the orchards, the bakery, the pecan plant, the shipping room and the office. Ellie Castile and Gloria Hurley welcome them and make sure they have a comfortable place to rest at day's end.

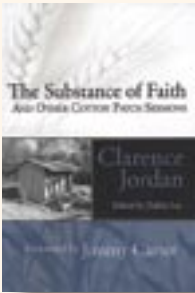

Koinonia farmers Norris Harris and Michael Grainge take a look at our pecans. We've been working hard to bring our orchards back to health since last fall when storms Charlie, Frances, Ivan and Jeanne "harvested" our pecans long before they were ready. Norris and Michael tell us that this year's harvest will be the best in years. Be sure to order some pecans!

Books

BOOKS BY CLARENCE JORDAN

Clarence Jordan brought the Scriptures to life with his modern-day Southern translations of the New Testament, his poignant sermons, and his inspired and insightful interpretation of the Sermon on the Mount.

THE SUBSTANCE OF FAITH AND OTHER COTTON PATCH SERMONS

Those who never heard Clarence Jordan speak will welcome this chance to meet him. These sermons demonstrate Clarence Jordan's depth of spirit that saw fresh meaning in the most familiar passages of scripture. Recently reprinted with a foreword by Jimmy Carter.
